

2022 Summer Public Service Fellowship Program Program Description & Guidelines for First Requestors

Program Description

Through the Summer Public Service Fellowship Program, the School of Law provides summer funding to students working in qualifying government and nonprofit employment settings. Qualifying employment is unpaid, law-related work for a government agency, public interest organization, or the judiciary.

The Fellowship Program (1) makes it financially possible for students to gain valuable, but unpaid, law-related summer employment experience, (2) ensures students are prepared to maximize their summer experience for long-term professional gain, and (3) provides opportunities for students to reflect on their summer experience and apply the insights they gain over the summer to their academic and career goals. Fellowship Program participants must satisfy pre- and post-employment requirements as a condition of receiving funding.

Employment Terms & Conditions

- Each student who secures qualifying public sector summer employment and completes the Application Process (outlined below) is guaranteed to receive one Fellowship during their academic career at the School of Law.
- To qualify for a full $4000 Fellowship, you must work full-time (at least 35 hours per week) for at least eight weeks from May through August 2022. If you do not work the full eight-week period, you will receive a pro rata share of the Fellowship. Specific employers may require a time commitment above the Fellowship requirement; however, any additional work commitment imposed by your employer will not increase the Fellowship amount.
- You may combine up to two qualifying positions to meet the full-time, eight-week time commitment.
- Once you submit an Application signed by your prospective supervisor, your Fellowship is not transferrable to another employer.
- You will be awarded only one Fellowship for summer 2022.
- You may not receive academic credit and a Fellowship for the samework.
- If you receive compensation from an outside employer (not the School of Law) and a Fellowship, your total funding for summer 2022 may not exceed $6000, including the Fellowship, outside fellowships or grants and/or paid law-related employment beyond the eight-week Fellowship commitment.
 - If you receive grants or payment for law-related employment beyond the eight-week Fellowship commitment, you still may receive a Fellowship provided the other compensation plus the Fellowship do not exceed $6000. You will receive through the Fellowship program the difference between $6000 and the amount of other compensation up to a maximum of $4000.

- You must notify the CDO regarding any compensation you will earn from your qualifying employer, any outside fellowships or grants you have received for qualifying employment, and any other paid law-related summer employment you have obtained.
- If you receive other compensation from the School of Law and a Fellowship, your total funding from the School of Law for summer 2022 may not exceed $4,000, including the Fellowship. This will enable the School of Law to support the greatest number of students.
- If you receive other compensation from the University of Richmond (employment outside of the School of Law) and a Fellowship, your total funding for summer 2022 may not exceed $6,000, including the Fellowship.
- Earnings from non-legal positions outside the University will not be deducted from your Fellowship.
- If you do not return to the School of Law in fall 2022, you must repay the Fellowship.
- By accepting a Fellowship, you agree that your name and your qualifying summer employer's name may be released to Richmond Law students and graduates and used to promote the Fellowship Program.

A Note on Second Fellowship Requests
